Count With Sunny

Sunny was in charge of the house for one day and it was a lot of work.

He stacked the cups too high, ordered too much pizza and overflowed the bath.

How many cups did Sunny stack?

Create Your Own Chore Chart

Families work best when everyone helps out. A chore chart is a fun way to keep track of jobs at home and celebrate teamwork!

Make a list of chores you can do (for example: setting the table, watering the plants, feeding your pet or tidying your toys away) on the left.

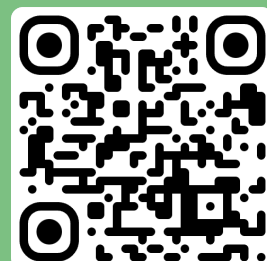

Then, on the right, mark each day you complete them with a tick. You could even buy some cool stickers and use them instead of ticks. I know Sunny would love some dinosaur stickers on his chore chart!

A Day in My Life Comic Strip

Create your very own comic strip about something funny that happened in your house this week.

Draw a picture in the boxes on the next page and write some text to show what's happened. Did anything go wrong, like with Sunny's bath or when he tries to put his sister to bed?

Here is a mini example showing Mina's journey to liking pickles.

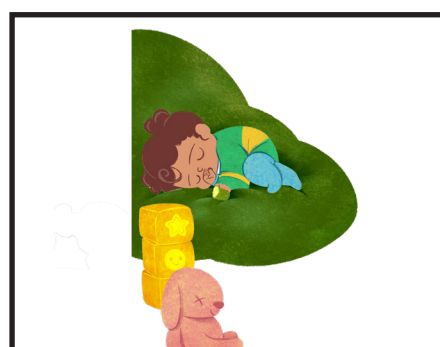

Mina instantly decides she hates pickles. She doesn't want to eat one for breakfast!

Mina decides to inspect her pickle. Is it so bad?

Mina gives the pickle a lick. Tasty!

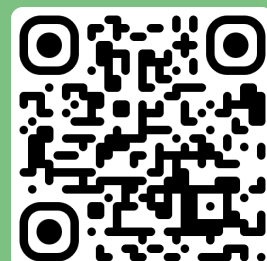

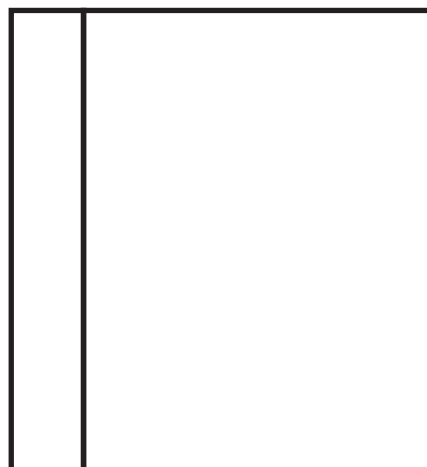

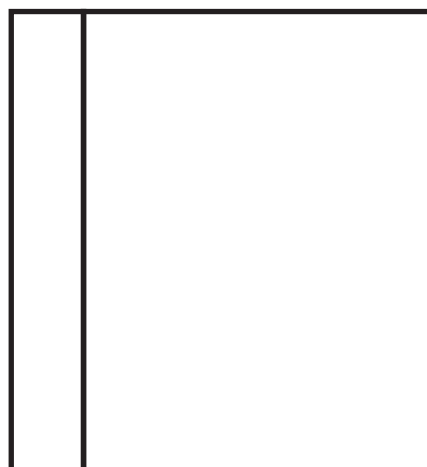

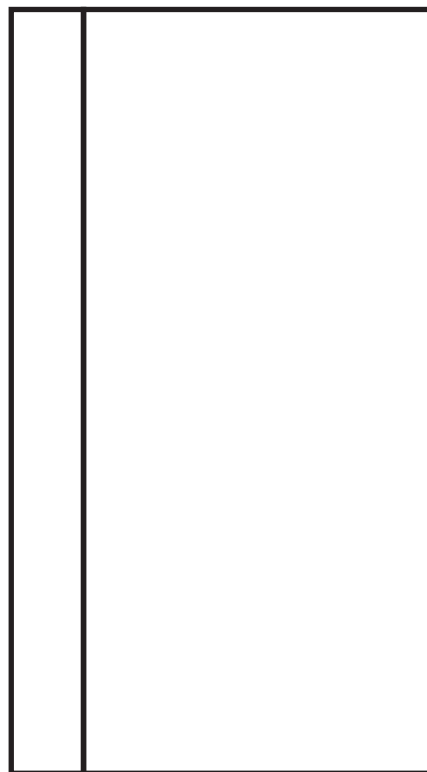

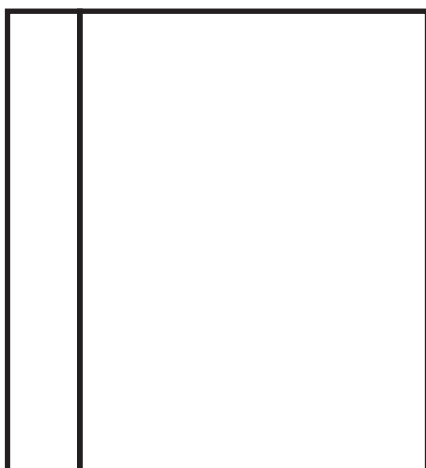

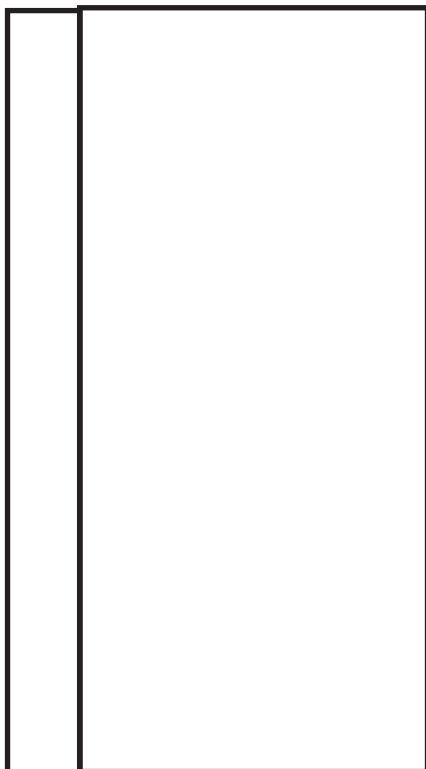

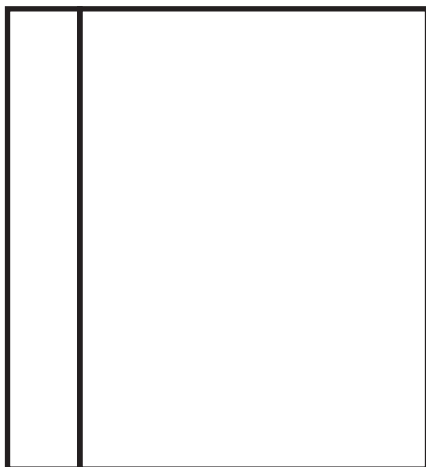

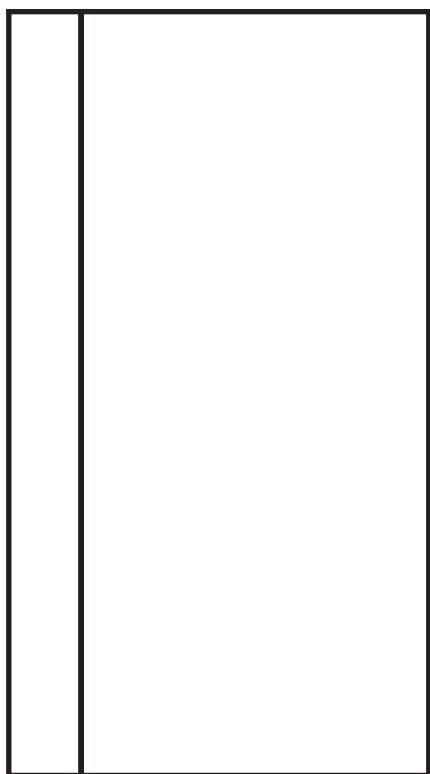

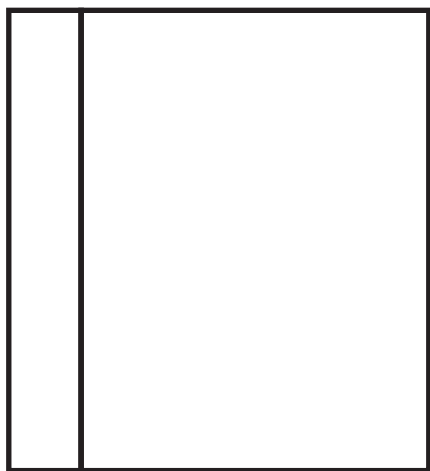

Mina decides the pickle isn't so bad. She falls asleep eating it.

Interview An Adult

Choose an adult at home (it could be a parent, a grandparent, an older sibling or someone else).

Ask them the below questions and write down their answers.

- "What chores do you do in the house every day?"

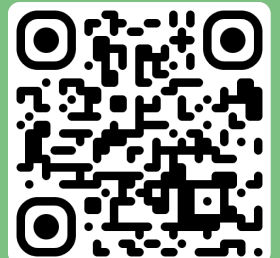

- "Which chore is the hardest?"

- "Which chore do you enjoy the most?"

- "How do you feel when the chores are done?"

Questions To Ask A Child About Their Family

Want to start an engaging discussion with your young people about the importance of family and how we help each other?

Here are some conversation starters for you!

1. Has anything funny or silly ever happened in your house (like inside-out shirts, messes or accidents)?
2. If you could invent one new rule for your house, what would it be – and why?
3. How do people in your family help each other when things get busy or messy?
4. What makes you feel loved at home?
5. If you were in charge of your house for one day, what's the first thing you would do?
6. If you could change one thing about how your family does chores, what would you do differently?
7. What important lesson did Sunny learn at the end of the story?
8. What's one thing you can do today to help your family?
